OTHER MAN, THE

Director: Nicolas Rossier

One man made the end of apartheid possible: in February 1990, President F.W. de Klerk lifted the ban on the African National Congress and ordered the release of Nelson Mandela. As the world celebrated, Mandela would go on to become South Africa's first democratically elected president – with de Klerk as his Vice President. Many films have been made about Nelson Mandela and the history of apartheid; few have taken on the challenge of bringing his predecessor – F.W. de Klerk to the screen, keeping him in the shadow of his exploits.

But de Klerk's history is complicated. Before becoming president, de Klerk had been a virulent defender of white Africans and their privileges, and his own term as president was marred by political violence – often at the hands of his own security forces. What pushed this man to reverse his beliefs and jumpstart the process of making South Africa a more equal and just nation?

Featuring in-depth interviews with F.W. de Klerk, former South African president Thabo Mbeki (1999-2008), anti-apartheid activists Father Michael Lapsley and Mathews Phosa, Yasmin Sooka of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, Richard Goldstone (who headed the Goldstone Commission investigations into political violence) and many others. Nations mired in conflict and recovering from civil war will benefit from better understanding this flawed, yet ultimately successful political leader that managed to bridge two opposing worlds. Ultimately, The Other Man explores the trajectory of this unique nation and reflects on how the end of apartheid will continue to shape South Africans and the world for years to come.

Reviews

- "An illuminating study of the character, role and motivations of the man who together with Nelson Mandela transformed apartheid South Africa into a democracy." - IDFA (International Documentary Film Festival)
- "A seminal work that really encapsulates the history of S.A. as she celebrates her 20th." - Mahen Bonetti, Executive Director & Founder African Film Festival
- "Beautifully shot and edited. A dispassionate and balanced attempt at trying to understand a contentious yet significant player in the country's contemporary history." - Marianne Thamm, The Daily Maverick

AMERICAN STUDIES

MAKING ROUNDS

Director: Muffie Meyer

We spend almost a trillion dollars a year on high-tech tests and yet almost one fifth of patients are misdiagnosed. In Making Rounds we are introduced to the power and superiority of methods of traditional diagnosis based on decades of experience, doctor-patient discussions, physical touch, and personal observation. We follow two prominent cardiologists getting it right, teaching future doctors the 'old-fashion' art and science of a thorough bedside physical exam. "A great many diseases may be diagnosed," they tell us, "just by looking at a patient's hand."

Filmed over one month in the cardiac care unit of a top New York hospital, we see the doctors in action, correcting previous misdiagnoses, predicting outcomes, saving lives, demonstrating - in dramatic real-world situations - that simply looking at and listening to patients remains medicine's most indispensable tool.

ANGER: TRIGGERS AND EFFECTIVE SOLUTIONS FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

A masterclass on how to deal with anger in positive ways

With this DVD teachers can learn powerful strategies to deal with their own anger in three different scenarios:

- Meeting an angry parent face to face
- Handling a confrontation with a student
- Resolving an issue over the telephone

Each scenario shows a negative response followed by a more reasonable, positive way of managing the situation. Summaries of negative and positive points along the way allow the film to be paused and discussed by the viewers. The negative clips demonstrate:

- Early warning signs, triggers, escalation points and a failure to resolve the situation
- Overfamiliarity, power struggles, secondary behaviour issues
- Blame approach, raised voice, lack of empathy, threats
- Failure to use objective observations/evidence, personal comments, no trust/respect, interrupting
- Making excuses, being sarcastic, arguing, criticising, overreacting

The more reasoned, considered responses in contrast show:

- A welcoming attitude
- How to review the issue and spot the positives
- Directed questioning to focus on self-management and resolution

- The importance of pitch, intonation, smiling, keeping your voice enthusiastic and friendly
- Thinking carefully before you speak and focusing on the facts
- Non-verbal communication and active listening
- Recording of important points, review of conversation, agreeing on action plan

BILLY AND THE BIG

D-CISION

Dilemmas, options and consequences relating to young people and drugs.

Developed in partnership with Orkney DASAT and Scotland Against Drugs.

Billy's back but sadly life doesn't get any easier. Now some of his pals are passing drugs round at school and he has to decide what to do. Will he take the drugs and risk the effects on his health, his schoolwork and his family or say no and probably get laughed at?

Help is at hand though. Not only can Billy try out a choice, find out what might happen then take it back and try something else, but he can also call for help on his mobile phone, ask questions relevant to the scene he's in and consult an extensive database of drug-related topics.

Billy and the Big D-cision offers young people the chance to explore a wide range of issues to do with drug taking, peer pressure, actions, consequences and responsibility in a safe, enjoyable environment.

As well as 18 scenes, 54 choices, 15 outcomes, 45 talkabout topics and over 200 animations and sound effects, Billy and the Big D-cision also comes with a unique drugs database, primary and secondary worksheets, and a detailed user guide. Billy and the Big D-cision is aimed particularly at pupils aged 10-14 and aims to support drugs education in school, social work and other youth initiatives.

BILLY AND THE BREAK IN

Responding to the needs of young people with more serious behavioural issues, Billy and the Break In sees Billy's pals thinking about breaking into an off-licence and stealing money and drink. What's Billy going to do this time?

With a similar format to earlier adventures but now dealing with more serious issues, Billy and the Break In also adds more characters, more situations and new 'talkabout' topics in every scene. An excellent way of raising a host of issues in a safe and fun environment guaranteed to get young people thinking and talking.

BILLY BREAKS THE RULES

Billy Breaks the Rules follows Billy's life in a substitute care family.

Even when it's all going well, Billy has problems to cope with and overcome - like when he gets caught stealing and has his pocket money cut. What's he going to do now?

Working with a counsellor, carer or teacher Billy Breaks the Rules allows children to deal with issues they find hard to talk about in a safe and fun environment. Controlling the actions and choices of a character in a computer game lets a child express their own feelings and fears and experiment with choices - then apply the issues raised to real life.

Billy Breaks the Rules has 15 scenes with 3 choices in each, 10 different outcomes with talkabout topics, over 120 cartoon animations, sound effects, high quality speech, original music and interactivity. The family life issues are equally relevant to children not in substitute care. All printed text also spoken to avoid literacy problems.

BEREAVEMENT

DEALING WITH TRAUMA

Written by the head teacher who led her school through the aftermath of the Russell murders.

Few teachers ever receive training in dealing with traumatic incidents and yet they happen. This resource looks at the educational implications following exposure to trauma and offers practical suggestions to teachers who work with traumatically bereaved children. It is intended to help schools by addressing the issues before circumstances force them to deal with the problems. It also suggests a school policy and practice.

Details of the grieving process are included to help teachers gain a better understanding of a child's needs so that they may be able to better empathise with, and help, bereaved children, and it explores a child's perspective of death, from preschool to adolescence.

It explains the 4 stages of mourning:
1)The pupil needs to accept the reality of the loss
2)The pupil needs to work through the pain of the grief
3)The pupil needs to adjust to an environment in which the deceased is missing
4)The pupil needs to emotionally relocate the deceased and move on with life

BIOGRAPHIES/PROFILES

DANCE GOODBYE, THE

Director: Ron Steinman

What is life like for a dancer when they can no longer dance? Inspired by Merrill Ashley's departure from the New York City Ballet as an acclaimed principal dancer, this documentary, created by Ron Steinman and Eileen Douglas, captures the poignancy of this life turning point. After a struggle to find her next step, today Merrill Ashley travels around the world teaching Balanchine to dance companies which perform his works as once she did. This is the story of any dancer - or, in truth any one of us - who needs to find their way into a new life.

Reviews

- "!" Excellent! Bravo! Bravo!" - Jacques d'Amboise, Longtime Principle Balanchine / Founder, National Dance Institute

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

PRIVATE VIOLENCE

Directed by Cynthia Hill

PRIVATE VIOLENCE explores a simple but deeply disturbing fact of American life: the most dangerous place for a woman in America is her own home. Every day in the U.S., at least four women are murdered by abusive (and often, ex) partners. Through the eyes of two survivors—Deanna Walters, a mother who seeks justice for the crimes committed against her at the hands of her estranged husband, and Kit Gruelle, an advocate who seeks justice for all women—we bear witness to the complex realities of intimate partner violence. Their experiences challenge entrenched and misleading assumptions, providing a lens into a world that is largely invisible; a world we have locked behind closed doors with our silence, our laws and our lack of understanding. PRIVATE VIOLENCE begins to shape powerful, new questions that hold the potential to change our society: "Why does he abuse?" "Why do we turn away?" "How do we begin to build a future without domestic violence?"

Reviews

- "This potent documentary is a natural for public/educational tube slots, and should have an afterlife in classroom and organizational settings." - Variety
- "PRIVATE VIOLENCE begins to shape powerful, new questions that hold the potential to change our society..." - Human Rights Watch

Film Festival

- "Hill's work lingers and probes with an urgent, comprehensive call to action. PRIVATE VIOLENCE is...insistent that its troubles can be confronted head-on." - Slant Magazine

DOCUMENTARY

CLEAN SPIRIT

Director: Dirk Jan Roeleven

The Lance Armstrong saga and countless other doping scandals may have permanently damaged the sport of Cycling. But Clean Spirit introduces us to one pro cycling team that strives to compete the "right way," placing them at a profound disadvantage. Argos-Shimano is determined to show that winning is possible without doping. We follow the team during the 100th edition of the Tour de France. Knowing that they cannot beat their opponents in the mountains, they have specialized in the sprint.

We see the young team inside their hotel rooms, at breakfast and at team meetings. We hear German sprint talent Marcel Kittel promising his teammates a Rolex if they let him win the first stage. In the excitement of the race see Mark Cavendish cause Argos-Shimano sprinter Tom Veelers to crash, ultimately forcing him to leave the Tour. While Cavendish tries to intimidate his opponent, Kittel takes his revenge in the ultimate stage in Paris, leading Argos-Shimano to victory.

Review

LAST SEASON, THE

Director: Sara Dosa

Every September over 200 seasonal workers, most of them Cambodian, Lao, Hmong, Mien and Thai, set up a temporary camp near the tiny town of Chemult, Oregon. They remain until the first snowfall, searching the lush woods of Klamath County for the rare matsutake, a fungus highly prized in Japan. This sensitive, probing documentary examines the bond between two of these hunters in one unusually hard season.

Elderly Roger Higgins is a Vietnam vet who returned from the war traumatized and alienated. "We couldn't get a job, so we made our own jobs. I would get out there in the woods and just work." Kouy Loch is a Cambodian immigrant whose experience as a starving slave laborer under the Khmer Rouge taught him the foraging skills that now afford him a living. The men cemented their relationship years before over the shared pain of their Southeast Asian experience, becoming almost like father and son as they traipsed through the trees together. But Roger is too sick to do much hunting this year, and Kouy must walk the forest on his own.

The Last Season contrasts the past with the present, the camaraderie of the mushroom hunters' camp with Higgins's remote home in the woods and the hope of a yearly treasure hunt with the vagaries of climate and falling prices. The result is a poetic film about friendship, nature and life.

MAKING ROUNDS

Director: Muffie Meyer

We spend almost a trillion dollars a year on high-tech tests and yet almost one fifth of patients are misdiagnosed. In Making Rounds we are introduced to the power and superiority of methods of traditional diagnosis based on decades of experience, doctor-patient discussions, physical touch, and personal observation. We follow two prominent cardiologists getting it right, teaching future doctors the 'old-fashion' art and science of a thorough bedside physical exam. "A great many diseases may be diagnosed," they tell us, "just by looking at a patient's hand."

Filmed over one month in the cardiac care unit of a top New York hospital, we see the doctors in action, correcting previous misdiagnoses, predicting outcomes, saving lives, demonstrating - in dramatic real-world situations - that simply looking at and listening to patients remains medicine's most indispensable tool.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

PRIVATE VIOLENCE

Directed by Cynthia Hill

PRIVATE VIOLENCE explores a simple but deeply disturbing fact of American life: the most dangerous place for a woman in America is her own home. Every day in the U.S., at least four women are murdered by abusive (and often, ex) partners. Through the eyes of two survivors—Deanna Walters, a mother who seeks justice for the crimes committed against her at the hands of her estranged husband, and Kit Gruelle, an advocate who seeks justice for all women—we bear witness to the complex realities of intimate partner violence. Their experiences challenge entrenched and misleading assumptions, providing a lens into a world that is largely invisible; a world we have locked behind closed doors with our silence, our laws and our lack of understanding. PRIVATE VIOLENCE begins to shape powerful, new questions that hold the potential to change our society: "Why does he abuse?" "Why do we turn away?" "How do we begin to build a future without domestic violence?"

Reviews

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

LAST SEASON, THE

Director: Sara Dosa

Every September over 200 seasonal workers, most of them Cambodian, Lao, Hmong, Mien and Thai, set up a temporary camp near the tiny town of Chemult, Oregon. They remain until the first snowfall, searching the lush woods of Klamath County for the rare matsutake, a fungus highly prized in Japan. This sensitive, probing documentary examines the bond between two of these hunters in one unusually hard season.

Elderly Roger Higgins is a Vietnam vet who returned from the war traumatized and alienated. "We couldn't get a job, so we made our own jobs. I would get out there in the woods and just work." Kouy Loch is a Cambodian immigrant whose experience as a starving slave laborer under the Khmer Rouge taught him the foraging skills that now afford him a living. The men cemented their relationship years before over the shared pain of their Southeast Asian experience, becoming almost like father and son as they traipsed through the trees together. But Roger is too sick to do much hunting this year, and Kouy must walk the forest on his own.

The Last Season contrasts the past with the present, the camaraderie of the mushroom hunters' camp with Higgins's remote home in the woods and the hope of a yearly treasure hunt with the vagaries of climate and falling prices. The result is a poetic film about friendship, nature and life.

FOSTERING & ADOPTION

BRIDGET'S TAKING A LONG TIME

Written and illustrated by Nicky Ball with Bridget Betts

A journey through adoption from the perspective of the birth child.

Bridget's Taking a Long Time CD-Rom includes Nicky Ball's beautifully illustrated and delightful story that follows Bridget's hopes, fears and frustrations of adopting a new sibling into the family and the processes it involves, with click-to-read text, animations and sound effects.

There are also 20 printable activity worksheets which are divided into four sections:

- 1) Hey this is me
- 2) Who's coming to stay?
- 3) They are here
- 4) Sharing

The CD-Rom includes an 18-minute video of live footage of birth children being interviewed about their experiences of adopting a new sibling into the family. It includes:

- Thinking about adoption – Discussing what adopting a sibling will mean to them
- Being prepared – Social worker visits, role playing and so on
- First meetings – Meeting the new sibling at their foster parents' home
- Sharing – Discussing how the new sibling settled in
- What's good about adoption? – Having fun, someone to play with and share things
- What would you say to other people thinking of adoption? – Not easy but rewarding, good experience nothing to worry about.

This CD-Rom is a thought-provoking, engaging and non-threatening way of helping children adjust to a new arrival and for professional training.

BRUCE'S MULTIMEDIA STORY

By Maureen Thom & Celia Macliver

Based on Bruce's Story.

Bruce's Story is already well known to thousands of childcare professionals and children and now it's even better in an interactive CD-Rom format with all the value of the original plus animation, speech, music, sound effects and interactivity.

Bruce's Story is all about a spaniel sort of dog, born on a farm with lots of brothers and sisters but the puppies had to all go to new homes and we learn of Bruce's adventures and the people he meets at that lovely new home.

Children can experience aspects of Bruce's life to help them think about their own. It can help them realise that change can be positive and how they can make new relationships in new families.

From time to time in the story "Bruce's Bones" provide specific points to chew over and discuss, so that children can describe similar experiences of their own and you can record the answers on the background word processor.

SEE IF I CARE?

By Les Cowan

An interactive resource for young carers' assessment.

Recent policy developments have rightly placed an increased emphasis on supporting young carers and on providing useful and effective services. Key to this is the need for high-quality assessment to make sure services are appropriate and relevant.

Information Plus has worked with the Young Carers Alliance, Princess Royal Trust for Carers and our local Crossroads Carers Centre to develop a unique interactive CD-Rom resource to help young carers talk about their lives, what the issues and problems are, and what help they would find most useful. See if I Care? Is designed to be interactive, child friendly and up to date both in format and function, and more accessible, relevant and engaging than traditional paper-based tools.

SPEAKEASY

By Bridget Betts & Les Cowan

SpeakEasy has been specifically developed as a follow up and companion to My Life Story to enable looked-after children and young people to express their opinions, wishes and feelings as part of the statutory review process. It aims to engage children and young people in this process by being interactive and fun.

Using a popular mix of fill-in fields and interactive activities, SpeakEasy helps young people say how they feel in six interactive sections, each of which includes additional information and resources.

As well as being able to print and save all input, SpeakEasy also produces a compact report for reviews and planning meetings — all in an exciting new way of involving young people in the key decisions affecting their lives.

The six interactive sections are:

- My Review
- Where I live
- My Health
- My Education
- Keeping in Touch
- Future Plans

PLAYING WITH FIRE: WOMEN ACTORS OF AFGHANISTAN

By Anneta Papathanassiou

In Afghanistan, women deciding to be actors make a dangerous choice. Banned under Taliban rule (1994-2001), Afghan theater is experiencing a comeback with many women at the forefront. But with powerful forces of Islamic fundamentalism, a resurgent Taliban, and patriarchal traditions in play, actresses often face the harshest criticism and are even sometimes viewed as prostitutes. Socially ostracized, and pressured to abandon their careers, they receive beatings and death threats for them and their family. Some are forced to flee the country and some are even killed.

PLAYING WITH FIRE introduces us to six courageous Afghan women who share their passions for acting, dreams, and difficult realities. They include Sajida, a student targeted by extremists; Monirah, besieged co-founder of an innovative women's theater troupe; Tahera, forced into exile because of award-winning work at a theater festival; Roya, whose TV career brings her constant harassment; and Leena and Breshna, unprotected by their stage and motion picture fame.

Filmmaker Anneta Papathanassiou exposes pervasive erosions of Afghan women's rights. Her timely, eye-opening documentary perfectly captures art's transformative power and the dangers these courageous women face to do the work they love.

GLOBAL FEMINISM

FEMINISM INSHALLAH: THE HISTORY OF ARAB FEMINISM

By Ferial Ben Mahmoud

The struggle for Muslim women's emancipation is often portrayed stereotypically as a showdown between Western and Islamic values, but Arab feminism has existed for more than a century. And its unique history is shaped by, and inseparable from, assertions of national identity and the fight for liberation from colonialism. This groundbreaking documentary recounts Arab feminism's largely unknown story, from its taboo-shattering birth in Egypt by feminist pioneers up through viral Internet campaigns by today's tech-savvy young activists during the Arab Spring. Moving from Tunisia to Egypt, Algeria, Morocco, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia, filmmaker and author Ferial Ben Mahmoud tracks the progress of Arab women in their long march to assert their full rights and achieve empowerment. En route, FEMINISM INSHALLAH also considers the paradoxes of limited championship by conservative forces and regimes, as well as the setbacks imposed by Arab geopolitics and the rise of religious fundamentalism. Featuring previously unreleased archival footage and exclusive multigenerational interviews, FEMINISM INSHALLAH is an indispensable resource for Women's Studies, Global Feminism, Middle East and Islamic Studies

MAKING ROUNDS

Director: Muffie Meyer

We spend almost a trillion dollars a year on high-tech tests and yet almost one fifth of patients are misdiagnosed. In Making Rounds we are introduced to the power and superiority of methods of traditional diagnosis based on decades of experience, doctor-patient discussions, physical touch, and personal observation. We follow two prominent cardiologists getting it right, teaching future doctors the 'old-fashion' art and science of a thorough bedside physical exam. "A great many diseases may be diagnosed," they tell us, "just by looking at a patient's hand."

Filmed over one month in the cardiac care unit of a top New York hospital, we see the doctors in action, correcting previous misdiagnoses, predicting outcomes, saving lives, demonstrating - in dramatic real-world situations -that simply looking at and listening to patients remains medicine's most indispensable tool.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

OTHER MAN, THE

Director: Nicolas Rossier

One man made the end of apartheid possible: in February 1990, President F.W. de Klerk lifted the ban on the African National Congress and ordered the release of Nelson Mandela. As the world celebrated, Mandela would go on to become South Africa's first democratically elected president – with de Klerk as his Vice President. Many films have been made about Nelson Mandela and the history of apartheid; few have taken on the challenge of bringing his predecessor – F.W. de Klerk to the screen, keeping him in the shadow of his exploits.

But de Klerk's history is complicated. Before becoming president, de Klerk had been a virulent defender of white Africans and their privileges, and his own term as president was marred by political violence – often at the hands of his own security forces. What pushed this man to reverse his beliefs and jumpstart the process of making South Africa a more equal and just nation?

Featuring in-depth interviews with F.W. de Klerk, former South African president Thabo Mbeki (1999-2008), anti-apartheid activists Father Michael Lapsley and Mathews Phosa, Yasmin Sooka of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, Richard Goldstone (who headed the Goldstone Commission investigations into political violence) and many others. Nations mired in conflict and recovering from civil war will benefit from better understanding this flawed, yet ultimately successful political leader that managed to bridge two opposing worlds. Ultimately, The Other Man explores the trajectory of this unique nation and reflects on how the end of apartheid will continue to shape South Africans and the world for years to come.

Reviews

- "An illuminating study of the character, role and motivations of the man who together with Nelson Mandela transformed apartheid South Africa into a democracy." - IDFA (International Documentary Film Festival)
- "A seminal work that really encapsulates the history of S.A. as she celebrates her 20th." - Mahen Bonetti, Executive Director & Founder African Film Festival
- "Beautifully shot and edited. A dispassionate and balanced attempt at trying to understand a contentious yet significant player in the country's contemporary history." - Marianne Thamm, The Daily Maverick

PSYCHOLOGY

PRIVATE VIOLENCE

Directed by Cynthia Hill

PRIVATE VIOLENCE explores a simple but deeply disturbing fact of American life: the most dangerous place for a woman in America is her own home. Every day in the U.S., at least four women are murdered by abusive (and often, ex) partners. Through the eyes of two survivors—Deanna Walters, a mother who seeks justice for the crimes committed against her at the hands of her estranged husband, and Kit Gruelle, an advocate who seeks justice for all women—we bear witness to the complex realities of intimate partner violence. Their experiences challenge entrenched and misleading assumptions, providing a lens into a world that is largely invisible; a world we have locked behind closed doors with our silence, our laws and our lack of understanding. PRIVATE VIOLENCE begins to shape powerful, new questions that hold the potential to change our society: "Why does he abuse?" "Why do we turn away?" "How do we begin to build a future without domestic violence?"

Reviews

- "This potent documentary is a natural for public/educational tube slots, and should have an afterlife in classroom and organizational settings." - Variety
- "PRIVATE VIOLENCE begins to shape powerful, new questions that hold the potential to change our society..." - Human Rights Watch Film Festival
- "Hill's work lingers and probes with an urgent, comprehensive call to action. PRIVATE VIOLENCE is...insistent that its troubles can be confronted head-on." - Slant Magazine

CLEAN SPIRIT

Director: Dirk Jan Roeleven

The Lance Armstrong saga and countless other doping scandals may have permanently damaged the sport of Cycling. But Clean Spirit introduces us to one pro cycling team that strives to compete the "right way," placing them at a profound disadvantage. Argos-Shimano is determined to show that winning is possible without doping. We follow the team during the 100th edition of the Tour de France. Knowing that they cannot beat their opponents in the mountains, they have specialized in the sprint.

We see the young team inside their hotel rooms, at breakfast and at team meetings. We hear German sprint talent Marcel Kittel promising his teammates a Rolex if they let him win the first stage. In the excitement of the race see Mark Cavendish cause Argos-Shimano sprinter Tom Veelers to crash, ultimately forcing him to leave the Tour. While Cavendish tries to intimidate his opponent, Kittel takes his revenge in the ultimate stage in Paris, leading Argos-Shimano to victory.

Review

- "Dirk Jan Roeleven and journalist Nando Boers have encapsulated the agony and ecstasy of the world's biggest bike race. The end result is intimate and authentic...Rich subject matter...gives the film a clear, emotionally-satisfying narrative." - The Independent (UK)
